Lisa Major
 is my mommy
 (yohn's the kid)

Lisa, Daisy Mae, my beautiful:
 you years of suffering (but there was lot of fun) and now we are "graduating" Remember me Lisa, cause I don't think I could rate
 it up 4 years from now we pass on the subject without saying a word. I need your friendship, please remember me. Love always,
 Brenda McMillan

 (Lisa's Best Friend)

Dear Lisa

What do I say to someone whom I fondly think of as "Bubbles galore"? You are one of the most fantastic, funny, beautiful people and I think a lot of you. You are also crazy, which puts you in the same category as the rest of us, without exception! It's been neat being in the family with you and we've got to keep up the family business!

I can hardly Sharon get well. may-
Since I plan be coming and Sharon. cruise the all zipp past waving and Hope to see and next year for you all the Happiness, Love & Peace of mind and hope that you find the gift to enjoy life to the full!

good luck at Phil!
wait to see you and in a rowdy mood!
be I can wait!
to go to T.C.C. I'll over to see you Perhaps we could ave. some night or you in my Porche 9/4 throwing money.
you this summer so take care. I wish

Much Love,
Paula (great-niece?!)

Lisa,
if I hadn't met ~~you~~ ^{you} this year wouldn't have been as good as it is was. I feel that you really helped me to understand everything that's going on in my mixed up head.
I think that you can really help me & Brian although I don't know how you can. Next year I don't know what I'm going to do without you. I know I'm going to fall ~~apart~~ apart &
do a mess of things which I shouldn't do.

Without ^{you} I'm going to be a total loss. Already I'm beginning to miss you.

Love always
Lynne.

P.S. you're gonna have to come
see me this summer.

P.P.S. Lisa you are so good to me. I hope we are always close. It's not often I find someone that I love & care for like you Lisa I'm going to miss you so very very very very much.

I love you

Love
Lynne

Fall

After months of sunburns, walking beaches barefoot, and watching sunsets, fall came floating on in. Many wished it would float on by because along with the brisk blowin' wind and crisp crunchy leaves came a new school year.

It began as most school years have in the past (and will in the future) with the sharpening of pencils, new freshmen, vending machines being pushed and pulled on, the opening and closing of new and used textbooks, classes skipped, and new friendships made.

The first day began with run around registration. Students ran from one class to another trying to get teachers' signatures. If you made it on time and weren't trampled in the halls, you were lucky. If not, all you could do was settle for some other class.

Homecoming week, October 1-5, started with the annual Slave Day and ended with the usual Grub Day. Tuesday was 50's Day with everyone dressed like their parents used to when they went to school. The hop at lunch, in the cafeteria, topped off the day. Hush Day kept all the girls quiet, but even so, Lenny Davis collected more than the average number of hush tags from the girls. After the game was lost to the Curtis Vikings, Homecoming ended with 250 students dancing to the music of Blue Mountain Eagle.

The annual "Back to School" night was held on Tuesday, October 16. Seahawks Fly Abroad (SFA) served a ham dinner in the cafeteria to raise funds for their exchange program. Over 400 parents visited classes and saw how the students of Peninsula High School really live.

The first controversy of the year began when the student council was confronted with budget problems. Their solution, cutting the requested budget of all clubs and activities, was not popular with many. Several alternatives were voted on by ASB members in October. As fall moved into winter, the budget problems were unresolved.

Many of Peninsula's fall sports had some luck this year. The Seahawks' soccer team made second place in league standings while varsity player, Jeff Gilligan, rated no. 2 player. In state results, the girls' swim team came in twelfth, with diver, Kathy Lile in 6th place, and swimmer, Kathy Garrison with a 4th place in the 100 yard freestyle. Water polo also did well, coming in 6th in state. Peninsula's football team didn't do as well as new head coach, Raoul Ancira, had hoped. It was a 4 win - 5 loss season. Tuesday, October 23, Girls' Club sponsored a spaghetti feed for all fall sports except varsity and J.V. football players who were treated to an ice cream feed.

On November 8, nine students involved in this year's DECA program, left for a convention in Montana. Besides going on conventions, DECA also started a new fad by selling bubble gum in the new school store.

Friday, November 9, all students were evacuated from the school due to a bomb threat. Students spent a rainy half hour standing on the muddy football field while the building was being searched. Finally the bell rang and classes were resumed.

Some of the major issues which seemed to draw student interest this fall were government related. The Watergate affair and Vice-President Spiro Agnew's resignation had some impact on our lives, and affected many of our regular classroom activities. As the energy crisis drew closer to its edge, school officials voted to lower classroom temperatures schoolwide.

For many this year was a time to get involved, a time to reach out for that goal in life, a time to meet new and interesting people, a time to be that individual you were meant to be — a time just to be you!

With winter coming closer, the Christmas spirit was in the air around Peninsula. The yearly door decorating contest started off the season, as second period classes expressed their feelings toward the holidays. December 5 and 6, Kevin Meyer and Dave Schick added to the Christmas spirit by playing Santa Claus. The excitement of candy canes and Santa's lap brought back childhood memories to many. To brighten the holidays, Girls' Club collected over 1,000 cans of food at the KTAC Noonies and distributed the food to the needy families of the Peninsula area. A toy drive was also set up to collect toys for children of Remann Hall.

The evening of December 5 marked the date for this year's selection of Peninsula's Daffodil Princess. Candidates competing for this position were Eileen Joy, Sharon Cantrill, Gail Blundell, Jeanne Patjens, Jackie Patjens, Nancy Brouillet, Becky Cumbie, and Lisa Majors. All candidates' speeches were based on the theme, "What the World Needs Now." The highlight of the evening came when master of ceremonies Milt Boyd announced the judges' choice, Jackie Patjens.

Remember when?

On December 8, Girls' Club sponsored this year's Christmas tolo. The evening was full of fun and excitement as students, dressed in pajamas, danced to the music of "Celeste."

Due to a delay in the arrival of new seating for the auditorium, the fall play "Pure as the Driven Snow" was postponed until December 13, 14, and 15, when new seating was to be available. Though the seating was delayed again the show still went on.

The Peninsula High School band, rated as one of the top three in the state, was quite successful this year. Musicians Tracy Cozort, Kathy Combs, Dave Hull, and Rob Peterson were chosen from our band to play with the all-state orchestra. Making all-state band were Randy Smith, Sheryl Shields, Karin Small, Dave Frlan, Krina Nelson, and David Cozort.

The choir was also active with Peninsula singers participating in this year's all-state choir including Rosemary O'Hern, Dave Knapp, Howard Knickerbocker, Mike Rogers, and Lenny Davis.

Throughout the winter many of the clubs held various activities. On December 18, DECA presented a style show at Scandia Guard. FBLA members received permission to brighten the school grounds with painted garbage cans. Four Girls' Club officers attended a leadership conference on December 12. VICA started in mid-fall on a paper drive which became very successful as a money raising project. For party fun, SFA held a Christmas party with members and friends attending.

As Christmas vacation drew nearer, winter sports started their season. With the wrestling team winning against Curtis Vikings, the school spirit was built to a climax. This year's varsity basketball team started off tied for first place but by late January, we had dropped to sixth place.

The class of '74 announced their hall of fame on Saturday, February 2, during the annual senior breakfast which took place at the Eagles Hall. Later on that evening, students boogied to the sound of "Proof" at the Senior Ball.

As winter came to a rushing close, many students saw teachers as more than just symbols of authority. A communication gap still exists between some, but slowly, day by day, it is getting smaller. Faculty and students alike are becoming concerned with one another, trying to shrink that gap... trying to accept each other as they are.

Lisa,
well mommy
our high school days
are over but memories
like the tale and "fraction"
will live with me forever.
I hope you have a lot of fun at PLU. I'll be thinking of you while I'm over in cougar country. we have to get together alot in the future. well I think I'll finish since I'm running out of space.
Love & always
Tom Leacy

The bands at Peninsula, for the third year, were directed by Mr. Glenn Hull.

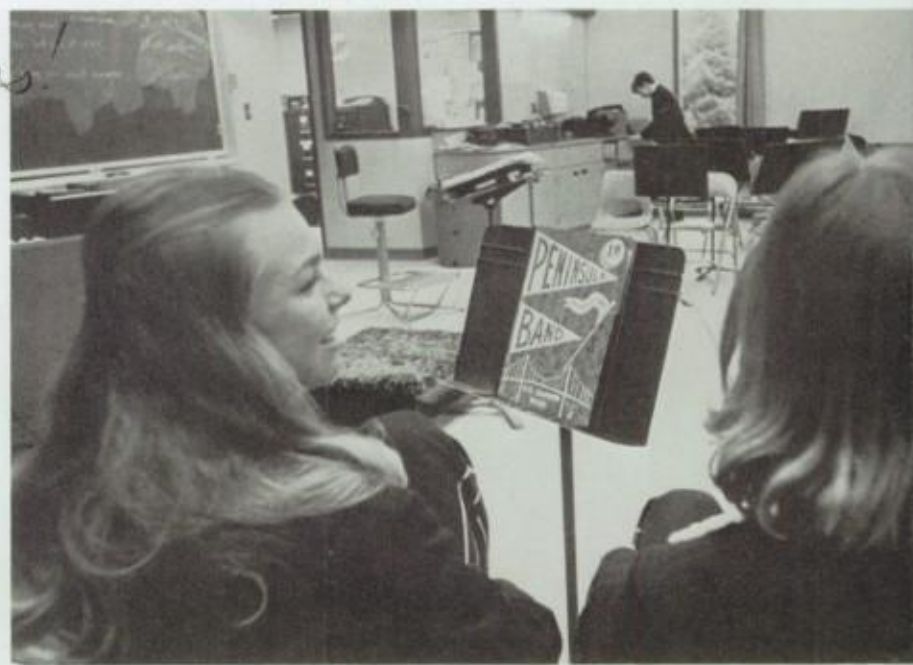

The fall concert was cancelled because of seating problems which gave them that much more time to prepare for the winter Christmas concert. Also in December Dave Frlan, Dave Cozort, Randy Smith, Sheryl Shields, Karin Small, and Krina Nelson made All State Band. While Dave Hull, Robert Peterson, Kathy Combs and Traci Cozort made All State Orchestra.

For the first time at Peninsula, concert band was chosen to play for the Washington State Music Educators Convention in Richland.

The bands also played in several jazz festivals and contests along with the regular school concerts.

Lisa-

I sure hate to see all you seniors go. It just won't be the same. You're a smilin' face I'm going to miss!
You're going to have to come to the games next year

to see me
O.K.? You
better for sure.
It was
real fun in Women's Lit

 OH, (upper right) what a lovely view!
 I'M ON TOP (above) of the world, looking down on creation . . .

As the month of March arrived we had, besides lots of rain, a bit of snow and hail and even a ray of sunshine. Everyone had realized that spring was here, with bike riding, flowers poppin' up, and classes being skipped.

Spring is a time to be happy . . . a time to release the tensions of the winter months. Relief was felt by all of Peninsula when the new seating for the auditorium arrived in time for the production of "The Diary of Anne Frank" which played February 28 and March 1 and 2.

March 1 and 2 Coaches Raoul Ancira and Paul Greeley took seven members of this year's wrestling team to state. Dave Estrada, Bob Strode, Lenny Davis, and Craig Heckart scored 20 points for the team with Carl Olson, Mark Fevergeon, and Tom Chaplin coming in with no wins. This was Peninsula's first year to score at state. Our team took 16th against 46 other schools while Lenny Davis placed as 3rd man in the state. Also in sports, our boys' basketball team placed 8th in the Seamount League.

Peninsula's swim team ended the season this year as the number one AA school team in Washington. They came in 14th at state competition. Kendal Reed took 6th in the 100 butterfly, with the best performance of the team.

This year's girls' varsity basketball team went undefeated in the Nisqually League with Jane E. Warner and Lori Maeshiro as the team's top scorers. Art Scheetz did an excellent job in temporarily replacing Ms. Julie Crosby as coach. League champions from last year were disappointed when Peninsula's team took their place up front.

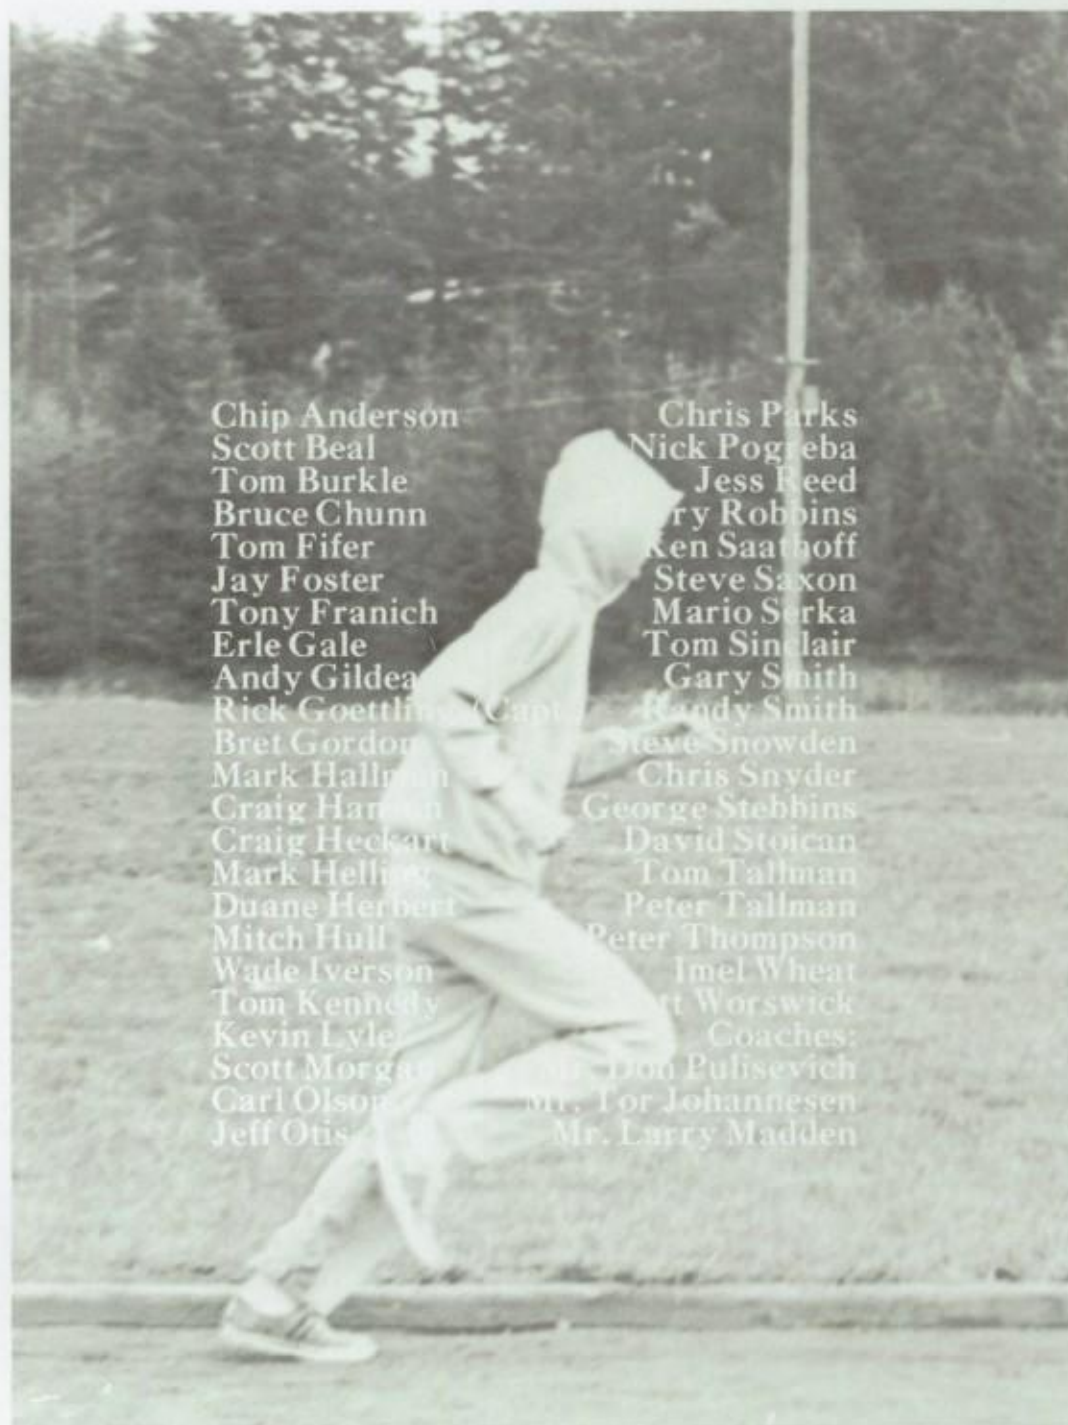

This year's Junior class was active in many money making projects throughout the month of March. After holding a bake sale and car wash at Thriftway shopping center on March 2, they added to their funds by selling donuts and coffee to drivers in the long lines around the Peninsula area. All profits went toward this year's prom which was held Saturday, March 23, with music provided by "Stash."

"Spring Fling" was the theme for this year's fashion show sponsored by Girls' Club on the evening of March 6. Fashion announcer was Eileen Joy, with Linda Amundson, Cherie Beaulieu, Lori Ann Buck, Sharon Cantrill, Becky Cumbie, Leora Hein, Joan Hildebrand, Tina Lovrovich, Jeanne Patjens, and Leanne Skansi modeling this year's spring and summer fashions. Along with the spring fashions came an unexpected snowfall.

Many new fads have been started on college and high school campuses throughout the country but the most recent is known by many as "streaking." On March 11 a masked runner, streaking the hallways, seemed unaware of the chilling weather outside the doors of Peninsula. Curiosity was aroused in the halls of Peninsula by the maintenance department as they patched holes and gave the walls the "measles." Toward the end of March curiosity was satisfied as the student body was informed of the changes soon to take place. On April 1 there was no fooling around as students began work on the painting of the super-graphics throughout the school.

The freshmen, sophomores, and juniors awaited their turn as the Senior class of '74 departed with the arrival of June to begin a life on their own, to do as they please, and live out their goals . . .

Girls Clubs

This year, Peninsula's clubs were very active. Throughout fall, winter, spring, and sometimes even summer, the clubs were busy planning activities, making money, and just having fun.

Between repairing engines and learning new concepts, V.I.C.A. Auto Shop had an interesting year. Advisor Floyd Schroeder was assisted by president Randy Knapp, vice president Jim Beach, treasurer Steve Rhea, secretary Eva Williamson, corresponding secretary Linnea Ronnegard, and parliamentarian Larry Buck.

Brotherhood of the Hawk was an improved version of the old Lettermen's Club, except that varsity, junior varsity and frosh members were all welcome this year. Advisor Mr. Rob Andrea was assisted by president Mark Helling, vice president Tom Leacy, secretary Matt Worswick, treasurer Vic Ulsh.

Lisa,
The Bums, left us out
they didn't tell you again! I stop moving we didn't year. It sure once this year. But it was was hectic, but it was worth all of it and more. When it gets down to working hard majors, you know how to do it. El sure luck with school next year and you'll get involved in many time consuming things

The Future Farmers of America were very active this year. President Ken Brown, vice president Ken Saathoff, secretary Vicki Hiller, treasurer Mark Hiller, and sentinel Larry Bell did their best to make this a great year. They worked at Minter Creek fish hatchery, Fox's Greenhouse, and improved the school's landscaping. Mr. Roberts was the advisor.

The Future Business Leaders of America was an active group, too. Advisor Mrs. Goodman was assisted by president Wendy Christiansen, vice president Debbie Bechtold, secretary Joyce Olson, and treasurer Laurel Holman. FBLA participated in the paper drive and helping needy families at Christmas. They held an after-game dance and candy sales, too.

Graphic Arts Club was certainly a great service to the school this year. Mr. Gary Anderson, advisor, was assisted by president Terry Togstad, vice president Tracy Brown, secretary Marty Eckler, treasurer Vicki Goettling, and recorder Barry Stokke. They participated in a paper drive, printed up sports programs, tickets, newspapers and served the school in many ways.

Key Club had an outstanding year. President Mario Serka was assisted by vice president Steve Snowden, treasurer Chris Tanksley, recording secretary Erik Pearson, corresponding secretary Sean Madden, senior director Tom Leacy, junior director Larry Oathout, sophomore director Bret Gordon, and freshman director Paul Stone. The club is sponsored by Kiwanis with Kiwanis advisors John Bare and Jerry Koffel, and school advisor Mr. Manuel Velez. Key Club has 19,000 king salmon at Puget Sound, herring that they feed daily and they perform services for the community and school.

Lisa,

Well, this year is finally coming to a close and then we'll be free of this dump! Far out, huh? Remember Miss Strom? I would tell you what I think she is, but I don't want to write dirty words in your annual.

INA FRANKMOELLE, (upper right) and Wendy Christiansen work together at an FBLA meeting.

MR. GARY ANDERSON (lower right) was the advisor for Graphic Arts.

The Distributive Education Club of America had a busy year. Instructor Mr. Jim Salatino was assisted by the following student officers: president Teresa Peterson, ways and means chairperson Phil Patterson, store manager Ty Metsker, bookkeeper Fred Schmitt, rules chairperson Carl Olson, social chairperson Doug Holsinger, special projects Becky Sether, and speaker Judi Tarabochia. They held a DECA breakfast, are in charge of the student store, meet during periods 1,2,3, and 4, and study business and marketing subjects.

Student Council had a very unusual year. The remedies for the school's financial situation were debated for many months. Finally, the budget was straightened out. Then there was a question about the interpretation of the dress code, and some changes in the constitution. Advisor Mr. Stephen Dable was assisted by ASB president Chris Tanksley, vice. president Sean Madden, recording secretary Eileen Joy, corresponding secretary Brian Overland, and treasurer Roger Brady, to make an interesting year.

The Peninsula Outlook newspaper staff had a hectic year. Advisor Ms. Sandy Mostoller, editor Marci Baker and assistant editor Duane Herbert, were disturbed greatly by the paper shortage, but the staff still worked hard to meet deadlines and put out a good paper.

Dearest Woman.

To the sweetest person around - all sugar and spice! This is probably the most important annual of all our long years of high school because we'll whip these out before our many reunions - so I have to think of something great to say.

You're such a swell, gorgeous person. So kind, especially when it comes to strange people like myself. Remember all the good times at ol' Pen High. And also our Daffodil time together - such an experience.

This sounds like a cliché, but much luck, love and happiness in your future. Good luck also at P.L.U. - you'll make the funniest obstetrian.

Love always,

Eileen

CARL OLSON (far lower left) Teresa Peterson and Ty Metsker enjoy the DECA breakfast.

KARIN MATSON (top center) works on tolo decorations for Girls' Club.

BRIDGET GORDON (left) Marci Baker, Ms. Sandy Mostoller, Cathy Jones and Jack Bird work to meet their deadline for the Peninsula Outlook.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL (top right) discusses the school constitution.

MARIO SERKA (above) and Erik Pearson lead the Key Club meeting in a discussion.

Girls' Club has been very active this year. Their main activities were the big-little sister party, Homecoming, two tolos, and the mothers' tea. The officers were president Joan Hildebrand, vice president Lisa Major, secretary Jackie Patjens, treasurer Joan Nesselrode, historian Sharon Cantrill, and advisors Ms. Sandy Mostoller and Ms. Cindy Goetschius.

German, Spanish, and SFA Clubs worked together this year, selling Halloween candy and having a Christmas party on December 17.

Spades, a new club organized by Linda Hulst, worked with handicapped children. Each child had a high school "pal" with whom they did special activities. It is a worthwhile club.

Ski Club was a scene of excitement. Both on and off the slopes, people were involved in skiing. Ski Club made its trek to the mountains with George Ackley as president and Ms. Edith Delzell, advisor.

Hi Lisa -
 There are cutes!
 This is it - the last day!! Wow - it seems like a thousand years ago since
 we were those

Here it is Girl's Club !! Rah!!!

I'm in the corner (just barely!)

but now, we've grown up & we're women of the world! You've been a great, cheery friend to have, and I hope you "loads" of fun at PLU!!

MS. ANNE ONDECK (upper left) was Spanish Club advisor. GEORGE ACKLEY (left) speaks to fellow skiers. SUE BRENNAN (above) and Regina Velez attend a Spades Club dinner. CRAIG LARSEN (upper right) and Kristin Scolman work hard with Mr. Oskar Schock, German Club advisor. JOAN HILDEBRAND (upper center) was not only Girls' Club president, but also junior class Homecoming princess. AKI WRIGHT (far left) helps decorate for the German and Spanish Christmas party.

Lisa,

If theres one senior I'm going to miss its you, ever since the first day I meet you, I've found you a great person. One of giving your self to others not really expecting that much in return. You have our laugh it shall never forget because there's so much behind it. a joyous person. of carrying for others. Lisa you're beautiful + school wont be the same praise God

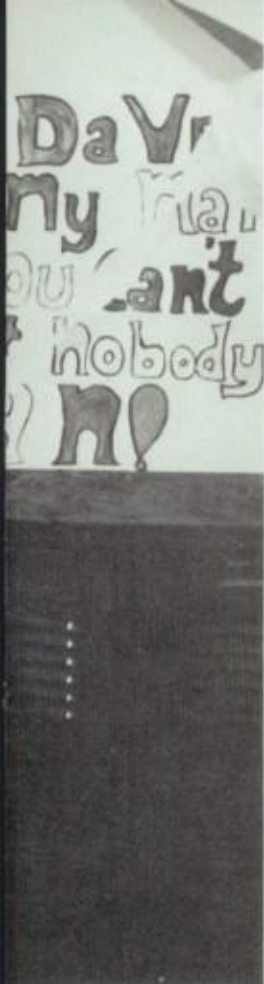

Love,
Laura Summings

F. S. Perls

People here that knew him, talked to him, will never forget him, for he will live on with us . . . forever.

Jerry Fogstad

Everyone that knew him also knew what he stood for; and everyone that knew what he stood for - loved him.

Without God, only half a picture of Señor Gravé can be painted. Above all else, Señor Gravé loved and believed in a loving God who did not ignore his earthly children.

Next to God, Señor Gravé loved freedom. He taught us to love it, and to respect it as our most important right as a human being.

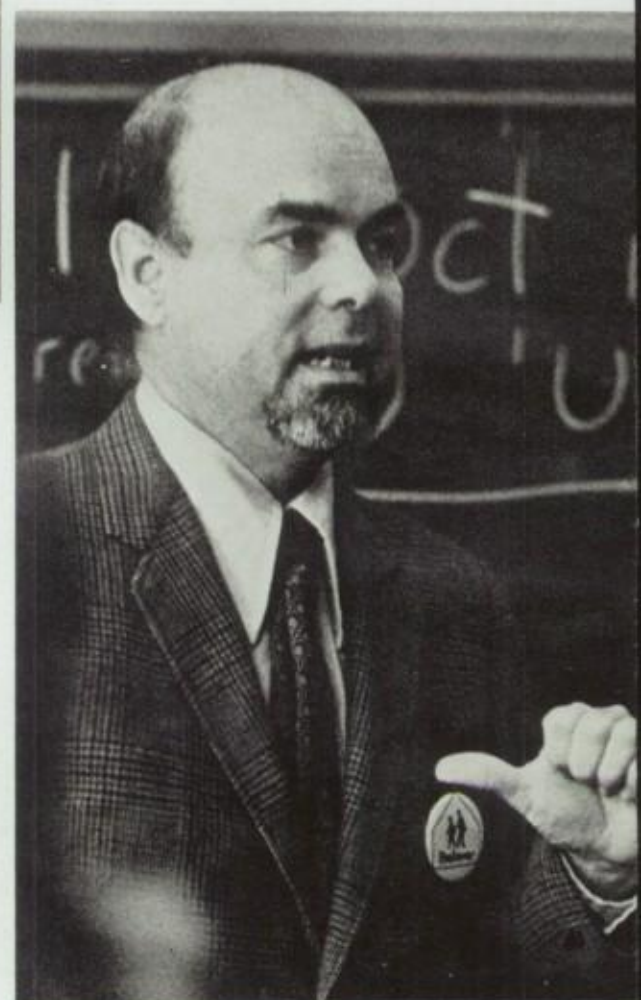

Leora Lee Hein

Señor Gravé was a very proud man, who would always speak up for something he believed in, whether it be education, equality, or freedom, which he held to him very dearly . . . Let us think of him as a courageous crusader for freedom.

Chris Janksley

Señor Gravé instilled in us a new understanding and appreciation of the freedom too many of us take for granted . . . You know it's really hard trying to put into words my feelings about Señor Gravé. Words always prove inadequate when trying to describe someone like him. How can I really leave you with an accurate picture of a man so full of the love of life that you could not help but feel it when you were around him?

Bridget Gordon

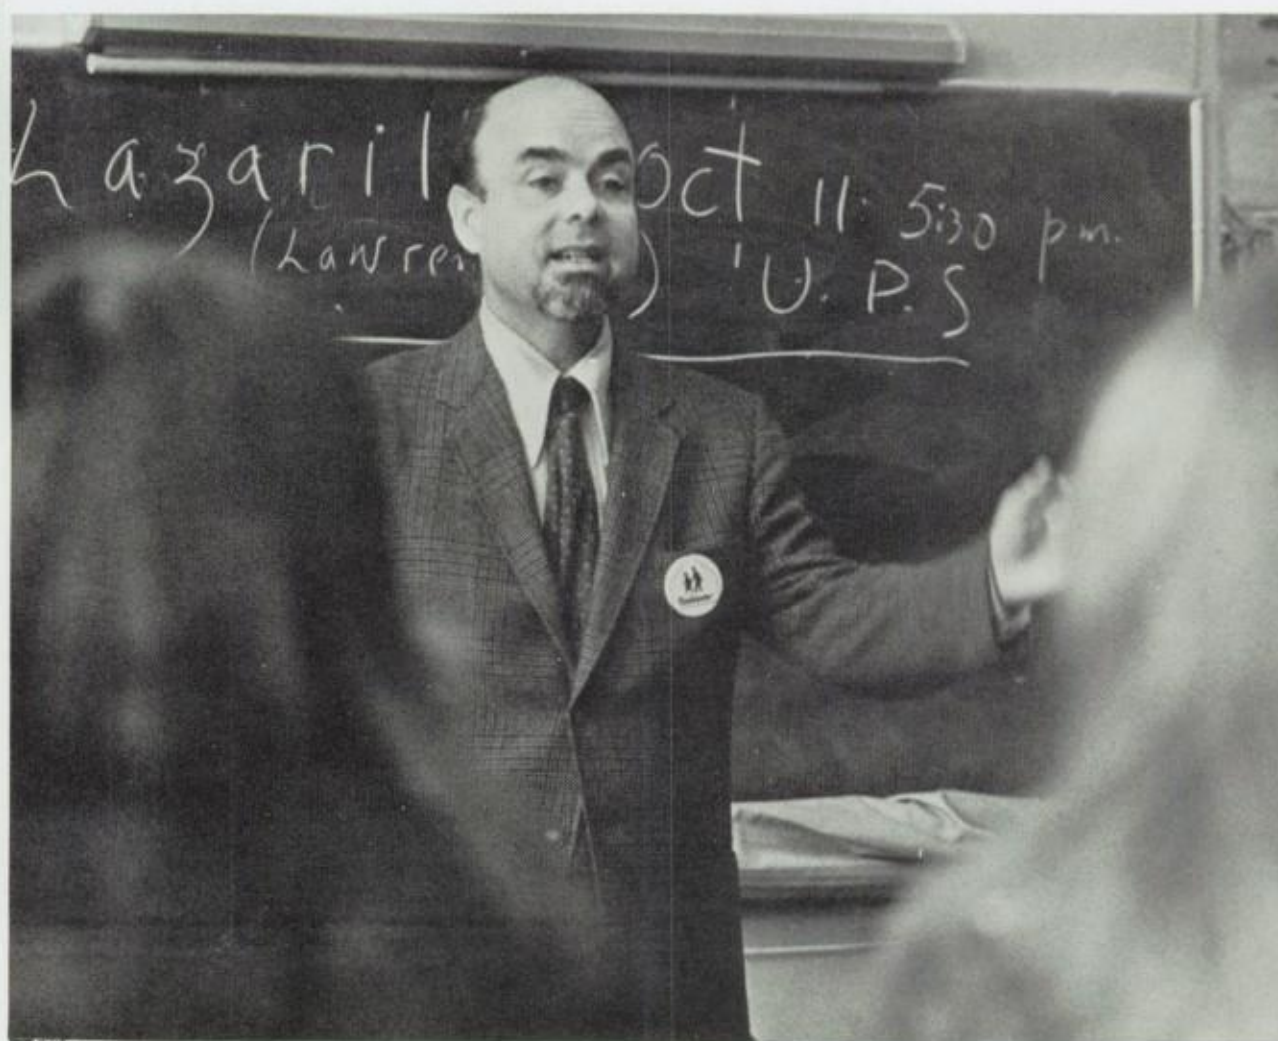

Dr. Gustavo Gravé De Peralta
(Aug. 10, 1928 - Nov. 29, 1973)

*He's respected for his honor, knowledge, insight and hope;
And living his life as he knows he must.
He is loved for his character, courage and zest for this life;
His honesty, thoughtfulness, and understanding ways.*

Congratulations SENIORS

Now is the time to request full information (without obligation) on beginning and advanced accelerated courses leading to Secretarial, Accounting and Executive positions. This is a very important alternative to both the long and expensive years which a liberal-arts college requires, and the hazards and regret of taking employment right after high school graduation. Learn about salaries and other benefits in business and government offices. See why your course here can be completed in 6-months, while preparing you for rewarding career opportunities. Experienced placement assistance . . . job offers outnumber graduates five to one.

Lisa,
 hasn't shortness
 been fun this hardly year? I can't hardly believe it that we're going to be graduating by that soon. I'm sure goes so long, fast. I know really for a person.
 You're really a nice person.
 I want to wish you coming very best of luck in the because years
 in everything you do it!!
 really deserve Love

as Always,
 Cindy

everything! Love

Missy

Lisa,
 Only 33 more hours and will be graduated! - Wuh!! It's been some year that's for sure. I'm so glad we had sociology and Child & together. You're a kick in the butt
 and I loved gossiping with you!
 & you ever hear some really juicy gossip give me a call.
 Good luck with

Lisa,

We've been friends for so long I don't know what to say.

I know you'll have a good time
 in college, but I expect you to study

a little between parties! Write me lots of letters because I would hate to never hear from you again!

I know this isn't very long, but I'm not too smart. You have yourself

a great little life with lots of sunshine and rainbows! Lots of love always

Sarah

Lisa,
 I'm so glad you're going to college and I wish you the best of luck in everything you do. I know you'll have a great time and I expect you to study a little between parties!
 Write me lots of letters
 because I would hate to never hear from you again! I know this isn't very long, but I'm not

well, where
do you begin.
signing annuals
is so hard especially for seniors it's just going to do, who will I run?
I didn't even know you will you invaded my problems. then I was just bus day isn't it? I wish I could come some day I would never did we had something big (?) in annual common I wouldn't want to spoil your love
by cluttering it up with stuff about the city of my life (your ex) but really you've been a fantastic help and a real good shoulder to cry on. Do you think I'll ever get over Jim? It's strange saying that because you had him and ask me if I still love him. I'll laugh I swear.
anyways, I feel super-duper close to you -
that's a sign by the carpenter's promise.

Lisa,
 Since you are going to be mad if I don't write as much, here
 as I do on narrow & road
 better, babble on about something.
 All the Girls' Club down grade your year
 you should never be a good 1973 74 girls Club President-Vice, so there. Even I am the most perfect secretary. Lisa I pray for your happiness and success. With love and kisses, your sister, helper,
 Consoles, and sleds.

Lisa,
 Congradulation on making it past the 12th grade (this year)
 Hope you have fun
 this summer.

 name right.
 Lisa,
 I Hope your future
 holds many happy surprises.
 Take care.
 and live life for

LISA,

I really don't know what to say
 except YOUR BEAUTIFUL!

If everyone could Be like you.
 The world would Be A Better Place. You'll Always Be A SPECIAL
 Person To me. I hope you come Back next year To visit. You can see me playing varsity foot Ball next year. (hope, hope)
 In whatever you do I hope you succeed.

Much
 Love
